Family Business on the Couch 28 2019 The challenge faced by family businesses and their stakeholders, is to recognise the issues that they understand how to develop strategies to address them and more importantly, to create narratives, or family stories that explain the emotion of the issues to the family. The most intractable family business issues are not the business problems the organisation faces, but the emotions compound them. Applying psychodynamic concepts will help to explain behaviour and will enable the family to prepare for life cycle transition other issues that may arise. Here is a new understanding and a broader perspective on the human dynamics of family firms with two complementary frameworks, psychodynamic and family systematic, to help make sense of family-run organisations. Although this book includes a conceptual is first and foremost a practical book about the real world issues faced by business families. The book begins by demonstrating that many years of achievement through generations can be destroyed by the next, if the family fails to address the psychological issues they face. By exploring famous and less well known family businesses across the world, the authors discuss entrepreneurs, the entrepreneurial family and the lifecycle individual and the organisation. They go on to show how companies going through change and transition can avoid the pitfalls that endanger family and company. The authors then apply tools that will help family businesses in transition and offer their analyses and conclusions. Readers draw their own conclusions from careful examination of the cases, identifying the problems or dilemmas faced and the options for improved performance and family relationships. They should ask what they might have done in the given situation and what new insight into individual behaviour each case offers. The goal is to avoid a bitter ending.

Contemporary Architecture 26 2019 " To strengthen the contemporary focus of this volume, we have added about forty architects and have some whose activity ceased before World War II. In making these decisions, we have been assisted by an Advisory Board. As in the first volume continued to define the word "architect" very broadly, so as to include planners, theorists, structural engineers, and landscape architects who seems to be central to the enterprise of creating habitable spaces in our day." --Editor's note.

Talking to Strangers Dec 13 2020 Malcolm Gladwell, host of the podcast Revisionist History and author of the #1 New York Times bestseller Outliers, offers a powerful examination of our interactions with strangers and why they often go wrong—now with a new afterword by the author. The Year: The Financial Times, Bloomberg, Chicago Tribune, and Detroit Free Press How did Fidel Castro fool the CIA for a generation? Why did Neville Chamberlain think he could trust Adolf Hitler? Why are campus sexual assaults on the rise? Do television sitcoms teach us something about the way we relate to one another that isn't true? Talking to Strangers is a classically Gladwellian intellectual adventure, a challenging and contrarian excursion through history, psychology, and scandals taken straight from the news. He revisits the deceptions of Bernie Madoff, the trial of O. J. Knox, the suicide of Sylvia Plath, the Jerry Sandusky pedophilia scandal at Penn State University, and the death of Sandra Bland—throwing our understanding of these and other stories into doubt. Something is very wrong, Gladwell argues, with the tools and strategies we use to make sense of people we don't know. And because we don't know how to talk to strangers, we are inviting conflict and misunderstanding in ways that have a powerful effect on our lives and our world. In his first book since his #1 bestseller David and Goliath, Malcolm Gladwell has written a gripping guidebook to the troubled times.

How Asia Works Apr 16 2021 "A good read for anyone who wants to understand what actually determines whether a developing economy will succeed" (Bill Gates, "Top 5 Books of the Year"). An Economist Best Book of the Year from a reporter who has spent two decades in the region, and who the Financial Times said "should be named chief myth-buster for Asian business." In How Asia Works, Joe Studwell distills his extensive research on the economies of nine countries—Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, the Philippines, Vietnam, and China—into an accessible and readable narrative that debunks Western misconceptions, shows what really happened in Asia and why, and for once makes clear why some countries have boomed while others have languished. Studwell's in-depth analysis focuses on three main areas: land policy, manufacturing, and financial reform has been essential to the success of Asian economies, giving a kick-start to development by utilizing a large workforce and providing a path to growth. With manufacturing, industrial development alone is not sufficient, Studwell argues. Instead, countries need "export discipline," a government policy that forces companies to compete on the global scale. And in finance, effective regulation is essential for fostering, and sustaining growth. On each of these subjects, Studwell journeys far and wide, drawing on fascinating examples from a Philippine sugar baron's stifling of reform to the rapid growth at a Korean steel mill. "Provocative . . . How Asia Works is a striking and enlightening book . . . A lively mix of scholarship, reporting and polemic." —The Economist

New Frontiers of the Automobile Industry Apr 04 2020 Analysing developments in digital technologies and institutional changes, this book provides an overview of the current frenetic state of transformation within the global automobile industry. An ongoing transition brought about by the rise of marketing, design and production centres to emerging economies, and experimentation with new mobility systems such as electrical, autonomous vehicles, this process poses the question as to how original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) and newcomers can remain competitive and ensure sustainability. With contributions from specialists in the automobile sector, this collection examines the shifts in power and geographical location occurring in the industry, and outlines the key role that public policy has in generating innovation in entrepreneurial states. Offering useful insights into the challenges facing emerging economies in their attempts to grow within the automobile industry, this book will provide valuable reading for those researching internationalization and emerging markets, business strategy and more specifically, the automotive industry.

Chasing the Chinese Dream Jan 14 2021 This open access book explores the historical, cultural and philosophical contexts that have made anti-poverty the core of Chinese society since Liberation in 1949, and why poverty alleviation measures evolved from the simplistic aid of the 1950s to the precision poverty alleviation and its goal of eliminating absolute poverty by 2020. The book also addresses the implications of China's experience for other developing nations tackling not only poverty but such issues as pandemics, rampant urbanization and desertification exacerbated by global warming. The first of three parts draws upon interviews of rural and urban Chinese from diverse backgrounds and local and national leaders. The interviews, conducted in even the remotest areas of the country, offer candid insights into the challenges that have forced China to continue its programs to resolve even the most intractable cases of poverty. The second part explores the historic, cultural and philosophical roots of official meritocratic government and how its ancient Chinese ethics have led to modern Chinese socialism's stance that "poverty amidst plenty is in itself a crime." Huang Chengwei, one of China's foremost anti-poverty experts, explains the challenges faced at each stage as China's anti-poverty measures have evolved over 70 years to emphasize "enablement" over "aid" and to foster bottom-up initiative and entrepreneurialism, culminating in Xi Jinping's precision poverty alleviation. The book also addresses why national economic development alone cannot reduce poverty; poverty alleviation programs must be people-centered, with measurable and accountable practices that reach even to household level, which China has done with its "First Secretaries' program. The third part explores the potential for adopting China's practices in other nations, including the potential for replicating China's success in developing countries through such measures as the Belt and Road Initiative. This book also addresses prevalent misperceptions about China's growing global presence and why other developing nations must address historic, systemic causes of poverty and inequity before they can undertake their own sustainable poverty alleviation measures of their own.

Sitting Pretty Aug 09 2020 A memoir-in-essays from disability advocate and creator of the Instagram account @sitting_pretty Rebekah Taussig processing a lifetime of memories to paint a beautiful, nuanced portrait of a body that looks and moves differently than most. Growing up a girl during the 90s and early 2000s, Rebekah Taussig only saw disability depicted as something monstrous (The Hunchback of Notre Dame), inspirational (Helen Keller), or angelic (Forrest Gump). None of this felt right; and as she got older, she longed for more stories that allowed be complex and ordinary, uncomfortable and fine, painful and fulfilling. Writing about the rhythms and textures of what it means to live in a doesn't fit, Rebekah reflects on everything from the complications of kindness and charity, living both independently and dependently, experiential intimacy, and how the pervasiveness of ableism in our everyday media directly translates to everyday life. Disability affects all of us, directly at one point or another. By exploring this truth in poignant and lyrical essays, Taussig illustrates the need for more stories and more voices understand the diversity of humanity. Sitting Pretty challenges us as a society to be patient and vigilant, practical and imaginative, kind and we set to work to write an entirely different story.

India Unbound Mar 04 2020 India today is a vibrant free-market democracy, a nation well on its way to overcoming decades of widespread poverty. The nation's rise is one of the great international stories of the late twentieth century, and in India Unbound the acclaimed columnist Gurcharan Das tells a sweeping economic history of India from independence to the new millennium. Das shows how India's policies after 1947 condemned the economy to a hobbled economy until 1991, when the government instituted sweeping reforms that paved the way for extraordinary growth. Das traces the developments and tells the stories of the major players from Nehru through today. As the former CEO of Procter & Gamble India, Das offers an insider's perspective and he deftly interweaves memoir with history, creating a book that is at once vigorously analytical and vividly written. Impassioned, erudite, and eminently readable, India Unbound is a must for anyone interested in the global economy and its future.

The Power of the 2 x 2 Matrix 06 2020 By studying the work of hundreds of the most original and effective business minds, the authors present a common architecture that illuminates exceptional analysis and creative performance. 2 x 2 Thinking is characterized by a fundamental appreciation of the dynamic and complex nature of business. The best strategists go out of their way to tackle dilemmas rather than merely solve problems. Through opposition, creative tension, iteration and transcendence to get to the heart of issues and involve critical others in finding the best solution, the authors demonstrate how to apply the 2 x 2 approach to a wide range of important business challenges.

The Korean Automotive Industry, Volume 1 Nov 11 2020 In 1962, South Korea assembled just 1,100 new automobiles. By 1996, this total had soared to 2,812,714. What explains this remarkable growth? The answer is complex, and involves a combination of a supportive State, timely technology, a skilled but historically low-paid workforce, aggressive pricing, savvy entrepreneurs, and fortuitous circumstances. Despite this amazing success, comparatively little has been written about the Korean auto industry in English. In the first of a two-volume set, this 11-chapter book seeks to fill this void by providing in-depth examinations of all six of Korea's automakers from their beginnings through 1996. Uniquely written from the perspective of industry analysts at the time (without knowledge of the Asian Fiscal Crisis), the book should prove informative to practitioners, scholars, and anyone interested in automotive history, international political economy, Asian studies, and more. A.J. Jacobs is Professor of Sociology at East Carolina University, USA.
